

Module name:	Administration and legal aspects in veterinary
ECTS:	3
Learning effects	Course outcomes:
Knowledge:	1	Student describes the structure of public administration
	2	Student has knowledge of the basic principles of the administrative procedure
	3	Student recognizes and typifies sources of law
	4	Student is familiar with the laws on animal protection, animal health protection, food safety, veterinary control
Skills:	1	Student recognizes hierarchy of public administration bodies
	2	Student compares legal requirements
	3	Student plans the activities of public administration bodies
	4	Student verifies the legality of the applied solutions
	5	Student exegeses the law
	6	Student subsumes the law
	7	Student verifies the competence of public administration bodies
	8	Student knows how to search for legal acts
	9	Student designs and evaluates an administrative decision
Competences:	1	Student is prepared to cooperate with representatives of other professions in the field of public health protection
	2	Student is prepared to communicate and cooperate with actors in the agri-food chain
	3	Student is ready to search for current sources of knowledge and continuing education
	4	Student is prepared to use the legal acts
	5	Student is ready to critically assess your knowledge of administrative law
	6	v is ready to share its own knowledge of the rule of law and to use the knowledge of others
	7	Student is prepared to work as a team
	8	Student is ready to demonstrate responsibility for decisions made towards people, animals and the environment
	9	Student is ready to present an attitude in accordance with ethical principles and the rule of law
Objectives of the module required to obtain learning effects:	The objective of the course is to prepare students to practise veterinary profession within the structures of public administration and its surroundings. Students will gain knowledge of the organisation, tasks and competences of the national and EU veterinary administration and national and EU and international substantive and procedural administrative law governing veterinary activities in the field of public health protection. Students will gain basic skills in applying administrative law.
Assessment methods:	Seminars, exercise reports, written exam	